ABSTRACT

In this presentation we construct a theory-based numerical method for starting the continuation of homoclinic tangencies near 1: 1 resonances, for systems with arbitrary dimension ≥ 2. The method is based on numerical center manifold reduction and flow approximation. The effectiveness of the method is illustrated by numerical examples.